Bill Bailey, of Miami, Fla., visited friends in the city during the week.

Hubert Hart, of Savannah, visited his mother, Mrs. J. G. Hart, Friday.

Lester Rimes and Willie Horne, of Savannah, were visitors here three hundred and fifty of their friends in celebration of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary.

The guests entered through the sun parlor and were greeted by Mrs. Jim Horne. There they checked their wraps with Misses Misses Annell Jones and Edna Nevils, after which Mrs. J. G. Moore ushered them into the living room and presented them to the receiving line, which was composed of Mr. and Mrs. DeLoach and son, J. G. DeLoach, and Mr. and Mrs. W. B. DeLoach, of Clayton, parents of Mr. and Mrs. DeLoach. Mrs. DeLoach wore for the occasion an evening dress of robin's egg blue mohair with a corsage of valley lilies and roses. The register was kept by Miss Henrietta Dekle. Mrs. E. L. Barnes conducted the guests into the dining room, where Mrs. C. B. Mathews and Mrs. Frank Williams entertained. The dining room, as was the entire house, was beautifully decorated with flowers and white carnations with ferns and flowers.

The bride was attired in a lovely Wallis Simpson blue alpaca dress with accessories to match. A shoulder spray of Tailsman roses and sweet peas completed her costume. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Brannen, of Statesboro. She was graduated from Brookline High School and attended the University of Georgia and is now a prosperous young farmer.

Immediately after the ceremony the bride and groom left for a wedding trip to Silver Springs, St. Augustine, Miami and other points in Florida.

Between Us

From time to time you will see in the Bulloch Times. The things you read will concern "us" I hope. If you find the column interesting we are accomplishing the one thing we want to do. . . . With Christmas over and the college set safely back within the walls of their alma mater, we can get back to the usual round of parties, with high school dances and college affairs added. . . . And speaking of parties, Helen Arundel's party have all been lovely, but the one Friday was particularly so. She graciously opened her new home from front door to attic for her friends to see, and it is beautiful. . . . When Nissie and Loff DeLoach celebrated their silver wedding anniversary Sunday evening, it was pretty in every detail. The guests held in the next twenty-five years they would look as young and happy as Mr. and Mrs. DeLoach Senior, who celebrated their wedding last spring. . . . And speaking of spring, you know the saying from the well-known poet, "In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to love." From all reports spring is here for a former co-ed from the University and one of our young business men. But we will watch that until spring. . . . Cora and Harry Smith Sunday afternoon were showing their new daughter, "Peggy," the town. We're wondering if she will surpass the three pretty sisters in looks? . . . We're calling it a day, but you mothers try and see the new children's books on display at the public library. They are not for sale, just a WPA project. . . . Keep all this between us till next week, when I hope to see you again. "AROUND TOWN."

WEST MAIN GIVES LIVE IMPRESSION

Modernized Buildings and Two New Industries Mark Recent Improvements.

Those of our readers who are wont to take Statesboro for granted, and who walk back and forth over their beaten paths without an occasional sortie to other sections of the city besides those on which lie the banks and the postoffice, might find it interesting some time at their leisure to walk a block or two down West Main street.

Find it interesting, we say, because that is an impression which came to this reporter one day last week end when he casually strolled along in the block adjoining West Main and Cherry streets and observed the activity which seemed to have sprung up over night.

Down at the very intersection of these streets there was a clean-up in progress. Bill Ab Bowen was standing broadside in the door of that building formerly occupied by the Cecil Brannen business, and inside a corps of colored helpers were pouring water and scrubbing floors. Now whenever you see a store being scrubbed of swept out, it is safe to conclude that some change has taken place or is about to. Yes, you guessed right: Bill Ab Bowen was receiving a carload of furniture, installing it in place and getting ready for a furniture business. Maybe he'll have some sort of paid advertisement about that later. Anyway, if he wants anything more said about it—well, our advertising columns will be open. (Morgan Waters was standing by his side and directing operations, and they told us "Morg" would be associated in the active management of the new furniture store.)

Exactly across the street in that long white brick building, vacant most of the time for the past twenty odd years, there were also evidences of prosperity. The entire building, formerly belonging to W. H. Sharpe, had become the property of W. H. Aldred Jr., who was improving the property inside and out, and has made it most attractive place. In one of the spaces thus provided we found Frank Smith, formerly on West Main street one block nearer uptown, with a stock of modern farm machinery, including the well known John Deere lines as well as kindred farm necessities. Mr. Smith hinted that he hoped to have some paid advertising "a little later," and this reporter is willing for him to do so provided he does not make it too much "later." If you didn't know Mr. Smith was down there in the new quarters, this will be news to you.

If you crossed over to the north side of the block and walked back uptown, right adjoining the former quarters of Mr. Smith's hatchery, you'd bump up on a new business, and you'd be interested to observe the new monument display opened there by the West Main, page 4.

December Ford Sales Attain High Mark

December sales for the 1937 Ford V-8 in the Jacksonville branch territory are the largest since boom days, it was announced by Ray Allen, manager of the Jacksonville branch of the Ford Motor Company.

The record-breaking December sales volume has credited to public acceptance of the new 1937 Ford V-8 which is now being offered in two engine sizes—an improved 85-horsepower engine and the new 60-horsepower V-8 engine.

Of course general improvement in business and agricultural conditions in Florida and South Georgia are reflected in our big December sales volume," stated Mr. Allen, "but never since the days of the model A have we seen such public enthusiasm over a new Ford model as has been extended by the 1937 Ford V-8.

"Our belief in returning prosperity is evidenced by the Ford Florida Exposition now nearing completion in Miami," Mr. Allen said. "All indications point to the biggest season in years and a record-breaking year for the Ford V-8 in this territory."

Now that he is in the molasses business maybe Prof. Towporek can get his friend Harry Hopkins to place pancakes and waffles on the required list of relief diets.

Contented Pilferer Languishes in Jail

Fully contented after he had entered the filling station of Ashton Simmons, on Savannah avenue, and denuded it of a variety of articles, including vacuum cleaner, candy and chewing gum, John Smith, a colored boy, walked three blocks and lay down on the Charlie Mathews' lawn. When the sun rose the next morning, John didn't—he was too well contented to even think of it—but remained snoring away his life and liberty. L. T. Denmark passed and observed John's complacency and his chewing gum, candy and vacuum cleaner. Then he reached town and learned of the robbery. Officers sought John, but he had moved. Later he was arrested and is now in custody.

The moral, if robbery is a moral thing, is don't ever be too well contented when you commit a crime.

DRIVE BEGUN FOR GEORGIA'S QUOTA

$100,000 Be Raised As Contribution to Warm Springs Foundation Fund.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 18.—Endorsed by Governor E. D. Rivers and other leading citizens of the state, the campaign to raise $100,000 as Georgia's share of a nation-wide endowment fund to perpetuate the work of the Warm Springs Foundation, will get started this week shortly after the twentieth.

"Every citizen knows what infirmity is," said Governor Rivers, "and every citizen knows that the organization fighting the disease has its headquarters in Georgia at Warm Springs. We know, too, that Georgia is the second home of the president of the United States who was enabled to become president of the country by the work at Warm Springs. This chance given Georgia to set an example for the rest of the nation in raising the first quota should be one in which we determine to succeed. It is a work for humanity, it is a chance for us to have a part in the work which will make the future safer for the children of the state. It is possible for every citizen to take part in this campaign through the plan outlined to me by the state chairman, I hope we will not fail in this humanitarian cause."

The campaign is, as the governor has said, one for humanity and for humanity alone. There is no political element in it.

The state last summer and fall knew some of the horror of fear wrought by infantile paralysis. The Warm Springs Foundation is the only organized force attacking infantile paralysis; it is the spearhead of the attack.

State Chairman Harrison Jones is seeking, of course, large donations from those able to give, but in order that every citizen may have an opportunity to take part he has developed the button campaign.

A button on which there are the words "A Warm Spot for Warm Springs," will be sold for $1.00 each. In communities where a birthday dance is being given for the president, $1.00 will entitle the purchaser of a button to a "kiss to the dance without cost."

Many communities, however, will not have dances. They will, through the button campaign, be able to show they have a warm spot in their hearts for Warm Springs and the work it is doing for humanity.

Charles Reid, the chairman of the Democratic executive committee in the state, is enthusiastic about the button plan.

"This will enable every man with a dollar to spare, in the fight against disease which may attack him or his family or his community, to give it to the foundation, which eventually must conquer this disease," said Mr. Reid. "I think it is a great idea to enable everyone to have this chance to give what amounts to a birthday present to the president."

The local observance of the president's birthday will be on a scale different from former years. Dr. J. H. Whiteside, assigned by Mrs. Julian C. Lane for the local campaign, is selling buttons during the present week, "A Warm Spot for Warm Springs," at $1 apiece. It is expected to raise a larger fund in this manner than before when the birthday ball was in vogue. Mrs. Lane is understood to have been designated as local chairman.

FARMERS TO HOLD MEETS AT NEVILLS

Series of Conferences at Which Matters of Interest Will Be Discussed.

Beginning Tuesday night, Jan. 26, at 7:30 o'clock, a series of farmers' meetings will be held at Nevills, the sessions to last approximately an hour and a half.

The main object of these meetings will be a thorough discussion of the government program for 1937 and its application to each farm in the community. The discussion will be extended to include why this program is still necessary in terms of present production, consumption and supplies of cotton and tobacco. Hogs will probably come up for discussion in the course of the meetings.

Many farmers throughout the state last year lost money because they did not understand how the agricultural conservation program applied to their farm setup. Their acreage was scheduled for 730 with the Celery Teacher game to follow. Only 200 reserved seed tickets will be sold. They are on sale at the City Drug Company and the College Pharmacy. Reserved seats will sell for 75c. General admission 50c.

We have heard a great deal about the House that Jack built, but nobody has ever said whether it stood up on its foundation until Jack got the last installment paid.

BETTER BALANCED FARMING SYSTEM

Profitable to the Farmer and Means Safety of the Entire Nation.

A better balanced system of farming, which will be more profitable for the farmer and safer for the nation, is the aim of the 1937 agricultural conservation program. "As never before, the nation has awakened to the need of stopping the exploitation of soil resources," Secretary of Agriculture Wallace says. "Conservation of soil is the last line of defense against national suicide. That defense must go on."

At this particular season of the year Bulloch county farmers appreciate the value and the need for a balanced system of farming methods more than at any other period. At the various livestock sales held in this section more unfinished hogs are being offered for sale than finished state hogs. The market for hogs is short. Corn is high. The hogs must be sold since they cannot be grazed on the oats until soybeans or millet is available.

As an example of the existing situation one farmer was in the farm agent's office on the product of hogs that would weigh about 80 pounds each. At the present prices these hogs are worth about $240. If this farmer had feed to finish these hogs out for April sales they would be worth $840, or approximately 12 times of cotton. Had this farmer diverted some 15 acres of land to feed crops and legumes in 1936 he would not be sacrificing this $600. There are many cases in the county like this.

This example also answers the often asked question of what will be used for a money crop if various farmers are not allowed to plant more tobacco or cotton. The outlook is favorable for watermelons, many of the farmers are planting tomatoes, and considerable acreage of what is termed "feed crops" and still bring in a good cash return in the form of livestock.

If the nationalists want to capture Madrid in a hurry why don't they send an agent over here to sign up Popeye the Sailor?

President Roosevelt had a very successful trip to South America, but it would have been even more successful if King Ed and Wally hadn't crowded him off the front page.

man several days ago. Before her departure Sunday for Washington to attend the president's inauguration the delegates to Dr. W. H. Whiteside, assigned by Mrs. Julian C. Lane for the local campaign, which he is now actively pushing.

CELTICS COMING FRIDAY EVENING

Will Meet Teachers at College Gymnasium For Their Third Contest With Professors.

The world champion New York Celtics basketball team will meet the South Georgia Teachers in the Teachers' gymnasium tomorrow (Friday) evening.

The Celtics are making their third trip to Statesboro, having had a place on the Teachers' schedule for the past two years. The Celtics have been recognized as the professional champions of the world for the past 15 years. They have average 150 games each season and have won 90 per cent of them. The world champions, sponsored by Kate Smith, of radio fame, will present the same line-up this season as last year, with one exception. Lee Lapchick, center, is not with the team, Pat Herlihy has moved to center, and Bob McDermott, a new-comer, is a new guard. Other members of the team, remembered in Statesboro, are Dave Banks and Paul Bickford, and Dutch Dehnert and Nat Hickey guards.

A preliminary game has been arranged between Baxley High and Manor High. The preliminary is scheduled for 7:30 with the Celery Teacher game to follow. Only 200 reserved seed tickets will be sold. They are on sale at the City Drug Company and the College Pharmacy. Reserved seats will sell for 75c. General admission 50c.

Begin Campaign For Club House Funds

The ladies of the Woman's Club are speedily approaching a realization of their dreams for a home! According to the present outlook, work will be commenced within a few days on their handsome club house at the intersection of South Main street and Fair road on the property formerly occupied by the county fair for years.

During the past week more than $500 has been added to the building funds through contributions from the generous friends of the women, which brings the total amount of cash in sight to within a few hundred dollars of the necessary amount to construct the building. It is understood that the cost of the proposed club house will approximate $2,000, of which amount more than $2,500 is said to be in hand at the present time.

CHARTER NIGHT FOR ROTARY CLUB

Many Out-of-Town Visitors Expected to Attend Dinner at Teachers College

The Statesboro Rotary Club will observe Charter Night Monday evening with a banquet in the dining hall of the South Georgia Teachers College, at which time Joel C. Harris Jr., district governor of the 69th District of Rotary International, will make the presentation and deliver the charter to the Statesboro Club.

The Statesboro Rotary Club was organized last fall with Dr. J. H. Whiteside as president; S. W. Lewis, vice-president; Gilbert Cone, secretary-treasurer; B. L. Smith, sergeant at arms; and Dr. A. J. Mooney and Dr. M. S. Pittman, directors. The club has twenty-five charter members and plans to increase the membership slowly to fifty.

Rotary International was established in 1905, the first of the several luncheon clubs. There are more than 4,000 clubs in seventy countries, with a membership of more than 171,000. The club is selective in character and can choose only one person from a craft.

Books Were Delayed, Now at the Library

Announcement is made that there will be found at the county library, in the Sea Island Park building, the group of 70 books, which are being circulated under the auspices of the WPA and which were advertised to have arrived here two weeks ago. The delay in arrival was due to the demand for the books which held them overtime at other places on the circuit.

A prize is being offered by the library commission of one book in each district for the best use of the ex-library books. The books are to be based on the number of persons who visit the exhibit, the amount of money raised to buy the largest number of books, and the amount of publicity given the exhibit.

The books are not for sale, but are merely an exhibit to stimulate interest in purchasing and owning good books for the juvenile department of the library, and also for personal gifts and ownership.

Epworth League Meet Has Been Postponed

Brookline, Ga., Jan. 19.—The Bulloch County Epworth League Union that was to have met with the Brookline Leaguers Monday night, January 25, has been postponed until Monday night, February 1. At that time the local Epworth League will entertain the other Leagues of the county with a program followed by a social hour.

Upchurch Announces Some New Equipment

Announcement made by Upchurch's Garage of the installation of some important repair equipment, found in today's issue, will be read with interest. According to Mr. Upchurch his machine is a most modern piece of equipment and places Statesboro on an equality with the larger cities in ability to meet the demands of wheel alignment. Hereafter, he says, the number of cars having their wheels carried away from Statesboro because of the lack of proper facilities. While his factory expert is with him during the week he will be glad to have the public call and see the operation of the new machine.

Thirty-one Farmers In Co-Operative Sale

Bulloch county farmers co-operated Tuesday to sell 41,776 pounds of hogs for $8.40 per 100 lbs. The thirty-one farmers entered 251 head and received $3,532.24 for their hogs.

The hogs were delivered by the farmers and graded by the farm agent. After all the hogs were weighed in bids were procured from leading porkers. The highest bid was $8.40 per 100 lbs. The lowest bid was $8.20 per 100 lbs. The average bid was $8.32 per 100 lbs. The hogs were sold by the farm agent, M. H. Hogan, Dublin.

Kid Sale Saturday At Central Pens

A co-operative kid sale will be held at the Central of Georgia pens Saturday, January 23. Joseph Fava, Savannah, will be the buyer with a bid of $1 per head for fat kids. Mr. Fava will be at the pens from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m. This is the first kid sale held by Bulloch county farmers since last fall, which should indicate that a large number will be moved to market this time. The wild winter so far has been favorable for kids to fatten.

A NO-TATTING CLUB HAS BEEN FORMED IN FLAT ROCK

well, Mr. editor, you will be surprised to find out that the good women of flat rock have organized a "no-tattling" club. All of this out of a clear sky after we will wait, the pasture at reboher church, preached a very long sermon on the tongue which is a very unruly member ansofeth.

bro, wait pointed out some figures and facts on gossiping and pictured a vivid portrait of the punishment that is meted out to the sinner who do not speak kindly of her nabor's husband and her nabor's preacher, in the next world to come, which is infested with fire and brimstone.

as soon as the benny-diction was said and the money counted, and said of the leaders of the mission-ary society shuck hands with one another with tears streaming down their jaws. one or two embraced and said forgive me maggie and she said all right, forgive me minnie, and they did, the men could stand it, so they shuck a few hands themselves.

this was a great day for flat rock, and many soles have changed their way of living. It has turned out that Mrs. holom more did not rally throw a skillet at her husband, nor did Mr. art square whip his wife last tuesday. she was only hollering because she got her hand ketched in the clothes wringer.

it also has been corrected that miss jennie veeve smith, our affilient scholl principle, did not stay out after midnight with the fruit agent when he took her to the pitcher show at the county fair, they got home at 11:45 p. m. and enjoyed the pitcher very much which was entitled "along broadway in a blizzard." Mrs. tom held is very sorry about this and said it must be benn some other stout lady she saw go in the boarding house that morning.

a new spirit is abroad in the land of flat rock. a few of the outstanding women have not yet jined up and are keeping up a whispering campaign, but the "no-tattling" have their numbers and they had better tetch the characters of our citizens very tenderly, or something worse will be told on them. bro, wait is very proud of this meeting which was held after much thought and study on jerry bell.

GOINGS ON IN FLAT ROCK

the frost is on the punkin vines in this community and flat rock is now enjoying liver pudding and sausage meat plenty. yore corry spondent, Mr. mike Clark, rfd, killed a fine shute last week that nested him 95 pounds before it was dressed. he counted on raising 2 pigs but omer count of the government, which he wanted to help, he fetched up only one.

miss-jennie veeve smith, our affilient scholl principle, has about fully recovered and got well from a cow-bunkle on her nake which kept her from bending it for 3 weeks. when one of her schollers would throw a paper wad at her, or hit her with a bean shooter, she had to turn clear around to try to see who in the world it was pestering her, but by then he was bizzzy at work.

yore corry spondent, Mr. mike Clark, rfd, is helping his secent and third sons, mudd and dudl Clark (who went across) to get ready for the summer march to washington which is shore to come pretty soon unless the secker-tery of the treasure pays the bonus again. if it takes a march to get it, they will march. they need new tires for their ford and another homus is the only hope.

we farmers are waiting to sign up with uncle sam for another crop control of some sort since the supreme court killed the a. a. they will be willing to sign up with the b. b. b. and if the b. b. b. won't work, they will go back to the good old k. k. k. and that has never been outlawed. we want our crops controlled; we want government seed loans; we want government f. o. r. a. n. e. and overthring as heretofore, ex-governor talmadge not with standing.

a right smart of serious stealing has been puppy-trained in flat rock this winter. some corn, some cotton, and several pairs of fine britches have disappeared from house holes. art square had to stay in bed till his wife could fix him up something to wear last saturday till nearly dinner time. they are blue with black stripes and a patch on the seat. a reward will be paid for their return. rite or foam 3 rings on the party line.

the 5 ottember wrecks which have took place already in or near meeting to pay for 12 winners; they only taken in 9. the president made a statement that she would resign at once unless the members commenced paying in more dough. she is very fond of hot dogs herself and was terribly disappointed.

a surprise pounding for our pasture, rev. will wait, is being planned for an early date, and everybody is asked to get up a pound of something by that time that either fit to eat or wear or drink. it must be kept a secret, as he might not stay at home if he ketched on that somebody is going to fetch him something for nothing. yore corry spondent, Mr. mike Clark, rfd, plans to send him a ham of meat, provided he can buy or borrow a hog to cut it from by then.

the cannon ball train which has been passing through flat rock ever tuesday and thursday and saturday, has changed time to ever monday and ever friday. bizness is very dull at present. the passenger that it used to hall to the county seat once a week died last month, and it is telling on the railroad's income. they also halled some freight the other day which a truck forgot to pick up at the hole-sail house.

somebody shot at somebody in the western side of town last saturday p. m. right after dark, but he must have missed him, as no blood was found where he was last seen running. the the winnie roost of the moonbeams of reboher church has been postponed indefinitely omer count of the class not raising enough cash at the last pollesman heard the noise over the phone a few hours afterwards, but he had gone to bed. he looked for finger-prints till nearly dinner-time the next day, but never found nothing. yores trulle, mike Clark, rfd, corry spondent.

Zone I Teachers Meet At Stilson

Brooklet, Ga., Jan. 19.—About fifty people representing the faculties of Stilson, Leefield, Clifton, Ogechee and Brooklet schools, composing Zone I of Bulloch county schools, and also a number of visitors met at Stilson Saturday in a general conference studying the new curriculum course.

Miss Jane Franseth, Bulloch county supervisor, arranged the meeting and Superintendent S. H. Driggers presided. At the opening of the session the group was invited to make education and all tours of inspection in each classroom, where each teacher of the Stilson school had on display outstanding work showing how the new curriculum can be applied to every-day life. The work in each room was explained by a pupil.

The group was divided into three groups for special discussion. Miss Wilma Groover led the primary group, Miss Ruth Lee led the elementary group, and S. A. Driggers led the high school group. After interesting reports from each teacher of the three groups, the different chambers in another general assembly brought out the outstanding ways that Zone I was correlating work in applying curriculum to every-day life. Prominent among the visitors in this meeting were L. M. Lester, of Athens; Mr. Hostettler and Dr. H. H.

London, of the Teachers College. The object of the meeting Saturday was to exchange ideas and plans that had already been carried out, and to suggest prospective plans for carrying out the general theme of "Production" during the next semester's work. The group voted to participate in the "Georgia Progress Day" program at the Teachers College in March.

BULLOCH COUNTY COLORED TEACHERS
The colored teachers of Bulloch county have opened school for the new year with new visions. Our first institute for the year was fine. Plans were made for having our district P. T. A. meeting at Millen. We are asking all teachers for their co-operation in making this a big day. All schools are asked for one dollar at the district meeting to represent their P. T. A.

On December 19, 1936, we had the pleasure of having our white supervisor with us in our meeting. She gave some very timely remarks. We hope that all teachers will put her talk into practice.

TO OUR MILK CUSTOMERS.
On account of the great advance in feed for our dairy cows, unless our customers make satisfactory settlement before the 10th of each month we will be compelled to discontinue leaving them any milk.
W. AMOS AKINS AND SON.

This cotton at Aulander, N. C., got 400 lbs. 4-10-4 per acre and 100 lbs. Nitrate of Soda top-dressing. Where 100 lbs. Muriate of Potash was added to the top-dressing at left the yield was 1250 lbs. seed cotton per acre. Without extra potash at right the yield was 1070 lbs.

This corn at Callison, S. C., got 200 lbs. 3-8-5 per acre and 100 lbs. Nitrate of Soda top-dressing. Where 200 lbs. of Kainit was added at left the yield was 29.3 bushels per acre. Without Kainit at right the yield was 12.6 bushels per acre.

These successful farmers STOP RUST and START PROFITS

Each year thousands more farmers discover that they can make a lot more money from cotton by using a lot more potash than the average fertilizer contains. Once they put extra potash on trial, they find it's just the thing their cotton needs to pay them extra cash.

For instance, there is V. S. BICKLEY, of Lexington, S. C., who writes: "Last year I planted cotton on two plots of sandy land which formerly had shown severe rust. Both received the same fertilizer and top-dresser, except that one plot got 100 pounds of NV Muriate of Potash per acre. On this plot the yield was 3,444 pounds of seed cotton per acre, while the other plot yielded only 778 pounds."

"My private gin showed 39% lint for the potash-top-dressed cotton as against 33% lint for the other cotton. The staples were 1 1/16 inches as compared to 1 1/16 inch. Before the cotton opened I weighed 50 green bolls from each plot taken from the same positions on the stalks. The potash bolls weighed 96 ounces and the rusty bolls 66 ounces. I just about broke even on the rusty cotton and made a profit of $76.44 per acre from the potash-top-dressed cotton."

Then there is MRS. PEARL POLLARD, of Wetmore, Ala., who writes: "For three years our cotton was ruined by rust. One acre, where the old house and barn stood, was completely eaten up in 1935. Rust struck before a boll matured and what little cotton we did get was so terrible to pick, that we named it 'the old rusty acre.'"

"My husband swore he'd never try this spot in cotton again. After it was planted in Austrian peas for corn, I asked to use it as a test plot. He and the two boys hooted at me but finally agreed. April 20 it was planted with the same variety of cotton seed it grew before, using 200 pounds of 8-4-4 in with planting. In June, after chopping out, we top-dressed with 200 pounds of NV Kainit. Our first rain came the 28th of July."

"In 1935, a good season, we made 500 pounds of seed cotton on this acre. In 1936, we picked 1,700 pounds of seed cotton and didn't find a speck of rust, except on the four rows which we left as a check in the middle of the field without NV Kainit. We are convinced about NV Kainit for Rust."

W. A. GAINEY, of Dunn, N. C., wanted to plant a 9-acre field in cotton, but his children begged him not to. They said it would produce a lot of knotty, half-open bolls which nobody could pick, because it had always been a rust spot. Mr. Gailey writes: "At an evening school our new agricultural teacher told us that plenty of potash would prevent rust, so I decided to plant the 9-acre field. I used 500 pounds of fertilizer per acre and top-dressed with 100 pounds of Muriate of Potash and Nitrate of Soda."

"Where I used to get short, inferior staple from small, knotty bolls, I got a good staple cotton from wide-open bolls that were easy to pick. My field remained healthy and produced large well-matured bolls to the top of the stalk. "Where I used to get about 200 to 250 pounds of low-grade lint per acre, I made slightly better than a bale of high-grade lint and I am satisfied that the 100 pounds of Muriate of Potash made the difference."

DANA A. WHITEFIELD, of Ty Ty, Georgia, beat his Father growing cotton last year and this year. Mr. Whitefield writes: "My Father and I planted our cotton on April 1 with the seed bed in just fair condition. We planted in my field first and then his field, using the same planter, same fertilizer distributor, same seed and same fertilizer. Everything was exactly alike, the fields being about the same, except that I top-dressed with 200 pounds of Kainit per acre and he didn't. My Father's cotton was practically dead from rust by the 1st of August, but mine remained healthy right on through picking. There was no rust or wilt in my cotton. About one-third of the fruit on his cotton reached maturity, while all of mine was well matured. Our field was almost identical. We plowed and fertilized alike, except that I used Kainit and he didn't. I used 100 pounds of seed cotton per acre more than he did and extra Kainit was the difference."

Thousands of farmers throughout the South have found that the small extra cost of extra potash returns big dividends in increased yields of better quality cotton.

Plenty of NV POTASH in your fertilizer or top-dresser PREVENTS RUST, helps control wilt and produces vigorous, healthy plants, with less shedding, larger bolls that are easier to pick, and better yields of uniform, high-quality lint.

When you buy your fertilizer and top-dresser, tell your fertilizer man you want more NV POTASH. Plan now to top-dress with 100 pounds of NV MURIATE or 200 pounds of NV KAINIT per acre, or use a nitrogen-potash mixed-goods top-dresser containing 10 to 25% NV POTASH. If you prefer to use your extra potash at planting, select a fertilizer containing 8 to 10% NV POTASH. Where Rust has been very severe you may need both high-potash fertilizer at planting and potash top-dressing to STOP RUST and START PROFITS.

NEWS OF THE WEEK OVER THE NATION

Happenings That Affect Dinner Pails, Dividend Checks and Tax Bills of People.

This is the time when the professional forecasters swing into action—and the business and financial magazines have all come out with overviews "review and forecast" issues. Generally speaking, the commentators and the magazines agree in their guesses as to the course of future events, namely that business is getting better, the public's power to consume is gradually approaching industry's power to produce, the national income is on the rise (though the rise is being offset to a considerable extent by rises in commodity prices) and wages and dividends are reflecting the improvement. But there is at least one big fly in the ointment—labor troubles, existing and prospective.

In the words of the conservative Annalist, "The three largest manufacturing industries enter the new year with heavy unfilled orders. Ordinarily such a situation would virtually guarantee a satisfactory state of business, even though a few important industries remained depressed. But the expected outbreak of labor disturbances is becoming serious enough to constitute a threat to general business stability."

Labor is split wide open today. On the one side is the A. F. of L. with its faith in craft unions. On the other is John L. Lewis, advocate of one big industrial union and direct action. Some think that Mr. Lewis' ambition is to build up a labor political party, such as exists in France and England. Whether that is true or not, Mr. Lewis seems bent on bringing the old closed-shop vs. open-shop issue to a head. One aim of the United Mine Workers (Mr. Lewis' union, which is supported by a number of other large unions) is to unionize steel, adamant defender of the open-shop. This is about as difficult a job as could be imagined and, whichever side wins, must result in controversies continuing over a period of years. So in the meantime, Mr. Lewis has centered his attack on a big industry which he—and most unprejudiced observers—regard as being highly vulnerable. That is the automobile industry.

Reason for motor's vulnerability is that it is dependent for existence on other scattered industries—glass makers, accessory makers, tire makers, machine-tool makers, etc. These related industries, though big when all units within them are considered, are mainly broken into small decentralized units. In other words, it is sometimes possible to tie up a big automobile manufacturer by bringing about a strike in some relatively small factory which makes, for example, glass.

Mr. Lewis has centered his current attack on General Motors, it being a representative big car maker. Demands are plain and unequivocal—and heading them all is the demand for a 100 per cent closed shop. General Motors, through its president, Alfred Sloan, has replied that it cannot countenance this, that it will dicker with unions or any other employe representatives, but that it will not demand that a man belong to any organization before it gives him a job. That is, it stands firmly for the open-shop.

The feeling is growing that if the menace to stability caused by labor troubles is to be eliminated with fairness to both sides, the federal government must do a great deal more than it has in the past. There is strong sentiment in the West—a near-man's strike has kept all Pacific Coast shipping tied up for nearly three months—in favor of the present taking a hand, something he has formerly refused to do. Mediation by the parties involved has got nowhere, and there is little reason for believing that it will get anywhere in the future. As a result, the "labor question" will undoubtedly appear as an issue in the current congress, and will be thoroughly thrashed out.

The president's address to the congress contained little that was specific. It dealt mainly with generalities as to hopes and plans. His part addresses to the legislative branch have also followed that pattern.

Why do you look the gun and Ma, new in the speech with the single exception of his reference to the supreme court.

The president said, by intimation, that he felt the court should be the lead of congress and his attitude toward New Deal legislation. He said that this would obviate passing a new constitutional amendment to make possible laws the high court has held unconstitutional. The president's declaration has stirred up the issue of the court's power to run all the way from unqualified acceptance of his views to the opinion that he is breaking down the democratic system. Cooler heads, looking at the actualities, feel that Mr. Roosevelt may run into trouble in his own camp.

That is, a number of Democratic leaders—notably those from the South—are known to openly favor submitting a constitutional amendment to the people instead of expecting the court to change its interpretation of the constitution. Majority Leader Robinson and Speaker Bankhead belong to this group.

TOMORROW'S SUN

BY J. C. WILSON
Newspaper Features, Inc.

"Scared money" isn't just a funny phrase. It is a very real thing in Georgia today. And money has reason to be scared with the legislature grinding away in Atlanta and heads of the state government stating majestically that the state's revenue will have to be boosted in the sum of six million to fifteen million dollars a year.

That larger figure would mean doubling the taxes of the state exclusive of the tax on gasoline. That is why money in Georgia is "scared." And that is why great chunks of it are poised in the hands of the capitalists for withdrawal from our state if unreasonably or unfair tax measures are adopted in the search for "much needed" new revenue.

Another story we are reminded of is that of the Standard Oil magnate who established himself at Thomasville, Ga. He lived happily among his roses, his stables and his wealthy friends who formed a colony there. But state tax collectors felt they were not getting enough of his substance. They started pursuing him for a little more tax money. Enraged, he sold out, moved to Virginia, where he died within a year. The state of Virginia collected, it is reported, well over $2,000,000 through inheritance taxes on his estate. The state of Georgia got nothing.

There is sound thought in the article recently by D. B. Turner, editor and owner of the Bulloch Times and Statesboro News. "The levying of an unjust burden even upon the strong," says Brother Turner, "eventually rests its weight upon the weak." So when our lawmakers solve the problem of finding painless methods of extracting taxes, they are as surely making heavier the load upon the man who consumes—for the consumer pays the freight, and that can not be escaped."

Georgia has aching need for money with which to develop her industrial plants. "Scared money" isn't going to make itself available. The source of anxiety, the fear of impending unemployment, the fear of a tax increase and then money will cease to be moved and will go to work for our state.

Each of the more than a hundred cities and towns in Georgia where this column is published has splendid prospects of attracting industry and pay rolls if money is encouraged to believe it will remain reasonably untaxed. Most of these cities and towns are on the vast truck lines of the Georgia Power Company, which through its state-wide network and its rapidly extending rural electrification program is giving every community in the state the power with which to operate industry.

L. W. (Chip) Robert, of Atlanta, secretary of the national Democratic Education System, has been named assistant secretary of the treasury of the United States, has announced he will conduct a nation-wide campaign to bring industry to the South and particularly to Georgia. It would hardly seem necessary to remind us that we must have care that unjust taxation shall not frighten this prospective influx of industry just when it is preparing to alight in our midst.

Governor Rivers has frequently let it be known that he favors a sales tax. He could not be reached otherwise. According to the 1930 census, there were 1,071,125 negroes in Georgia and more than the greatest beneficiaries of the social security legislation. Wouldn't a tax they would contribute to in just proportion be the fairest for all?

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN: C. H. Hart and V. D. Thompson, heretofore co-partners doing business under the firm name of Statesboro Laundry, have this day dissolved their partnership by mutual agreement. The said C. H. Hart has retired. The said V. D. Thompson will continue the business under the former name, and will pay and collect all bills. This 18th day of January, 1937.

Members of Georgia Press Association To Be Entertained On February 5th.
(By Georgia News Service)
Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 25.—Atlanta is preparing a welcome for a galaxy of outstanding newspaper artists and writers who will be visitors in the city the week of January 31st to participate in the opening celebration observing the 25th anniversary of the Atlanta Georgian and Sunday American as members of the Heart of Georgia.

William Randolph Hearst, who acquired the newspaper February 5, 1912, will not be able to visit Atlanta during the week which launched the Georgian's silver anniversary year, but four of his sons, all now engaged in the newspaper business, will attend.

Among the outstanding visitors who will attend are T. J. White, general manager of the Hearst enterprises; R. E. Berlin, general manager of the Hearst magazines; Berry Farris, general manager of International News Service; Mrs. Eleanor Patterson, publisher of the Washington Herald, and others.

From the comic pages into the festivities will step Chic Young, creator of "Blondie"; Russ Westover, creator of "Tillie the Toiler"; Alex Raymond, who created "Flash Gordon"; Billy DeBeck, creator of "Barney Google"; Otto Soglow, creator of "The Little King"; and "Popeye" will attend in person.

Members of the Georgia Press Association and their wives will be guests of Herbert Potter, publisher of the Georgian and American, at a press luncheon at the Atlanta Athletic Club Friday noon, February 5th. This luncheon is one of several events arranged for the week, which will mark a quarter of a century of achievement by the newspaper which has twice won the Suttie Trophy, awarded annually by the Georgia Press Association for outstanding service to Georgia. The Georgian also has been a holder of the Dean Trophy, given by the association for the best editorial of the year.

Prolific Goats
Establish Record
Seven young goats in two families is the record established during the week by Alfred Dorman's pair of Billy Angoras—a record which goat raisers say rarely if ever been exceeded. Sadly enough, the mother of the four baby goats succumbed during the ordeal, and shortly thereafter the mother of the other pair died. The surviving quadruplet was transferred to the mother with triplets, and is now nursing four—which yet appears as a high record.

Mrs. Dorman has been using these Angoras as a base of special diet during recent months and has grown fat upon their milk. The mother which died had a record of five quarts per day, while the survivor is a three quart milker. Already plans are in the making for the addition of another milker.

Somebody wants to know what has become of the 1936 campaign songs. They have "gone with the wind."

"Bill" Chaplin, who reported the Ethiopian war; Dorothy Kilgallen, first woman to fly around the world; Arthur "Bugs" Baer, and Elsie Robinson, famous columnist.

Members of the Georgia Press Association and their wives will be guests of Herbert Potter, publisher of the Georgian and American, at a press luncheon at the Atlanta Athletic Club Friday noon, February 5th. This luncheon is one of several events arranged for the week, which will mark a quarter of a century of achievement by the newspaper which has twice won the Suttie Trophy, awarded annually by the Georgia Press Association for outstanding service to Georgia. The Georgian also has been a holder of the Dean Trophy, given by the association for the best editorial of the year.

Prolific Goats
Establish Record
Seven young goats in two families is the record established during the week by Alfred Dorman's pair of Billy Angoras—a record which goat raisers say rarely if ever been exceeded. Sadly enough, the mother of the four baby goats succumbed during the ordeal, and shortly thereafter the mother of the other pair died. The surviving quadruplet was transferred to the mother with triplets, and is now nursing four—which yet appears as a high record.

Mrs. Dorman has been using these Angoras as a base of special diet during recent months and has grown fat upon their milk. The mother which died had a record of five quarts per day, while the survivor is a three quart milker. Already plans are in the making for the addition of another milker.

FLIVVER PLANE TO GO THROUGH TUBE
The co-operative kid sale Saturday moved 184 at 81 each. Joseph Fava, Savannah, was the buyer. The next sale will be held prior to Easter. Farmers planning to market kids at this sale are urged to make an effort to keep the present flesh on them. Prices are expected to be good, and Mr. Fava has offered a prize, to be announced, to various farmers that enter as many as 40 head of fat kids weighing from 15 to 25 pounds. He assures that the prize will be worthwhile.

Several farmers brought kids to the sale Saturday that were evidently for small for market and which should be desirable for Easter.
